ANNEX I - TERMS OF REFERENCES

Terms of Reference (TOR) for Local Service Contract

The demonstration of the best practices of new mine setting in order to avoid soil and groundwater contamination and impacts on surface water systems.

Location:	Ulan-Ude, The Russian Federation
Application Deadline:	29-Apr-2014
Type of Contract:	Service Contract
Post Level:	Local
Languages Required:	English, Russian
Starting Date:	01-May-2014
Duration of Initial Contract:	01-May-2014 – 30- November- 2014
Expected Duration of Assignment:	7 months

Background:

The project's objective is to spearhead integrated natural resource management of Baikal Lake Basin and Hovsgol Lake ensuring ecosystem resilience, reduced water quality threats in the context of sustainable economic development. The project has three primary components: elaborating a strategic policy and planning framework; strengthening institutional capacity for IWRM; and demonstrating water quality and biodiversity mainstreaming practice, including groundwater monitoring and protection.

This project builds upon a solid, decades-old baseline of bilateral cooperation between Russia and Mongolia on the transboundary waters of the Selenga River and by extension the Baikal Basin itself. To date, international support for environmental conservation and management in the Baikal Basin has not been transboundary in orientation; little support has been provided the two countries in strengthening their transboundary cooperation to manage sustainably the globally significant environmental benefits represented by the incomparable Lake Baikal and its transboundary Basin, at the top of which lies Mongolia's aquatic jewel, Lake Hovsgol. In addition to this solid baseline of transboundary cooperation are two rapidly growing economic baselines in mining and tourism, with mining being the biggest and fastest growing economic activity in the Baikal Basin and tourism a smaller but also rapidly growing sector in both the Russian and Mongolian portions of the Baikal Basin. Both of these sectors hold much promise in becoming better stewards of the Baikal Basin's aquatic ecosystems. In the absence of a GEF investment, these barriers are likely to continue hampering an effective transboundary response to the critical threats that are already impacting the ecosystem health and resilience of the Baikal Basin.

Successful implementation of a regional project like "Integrated Natural Resource Management in the Baikal Basin Transboundary Ecosystem", to a large degree depends on effective implementation and ownership of project-inspired work at the national and local levels.

Justification:

Under the project Output 3.1, project resources will enable local industries and local level authorities to mainstream aquatic ecosystem and biodiversity management objectives into mining policies, planning, operations. Mining has the potential to affect biodiversity throughout the life cycle of a project, both directly and indirectly. Direct or primary impacts from mining can result from any activity that involves land clearance (such as access road construction, exploration drilling, stripping or tailings impoundment construction) or direct discharges to water bodies (riverine tailings disposal or tailings impoundment releases).

Development objective:

The pilot project will focus upon demonstration best practices in siting a new mine in order to avoid soil and groundwater contamination and impacts on surface water systems. This will include piloting decision making processes that consider cumulative (primary and secondary) impacts upon biodiversity from mining activities that normally would not be recognized.

Immediate objective(s):

The following tasks are to be done within the scope of the work:

- To select the site for mining, determining the dangerous pollution sources and their negative impact on environment;
- To perform sampling and analyses to determine background content of pollutants in the future mining area
- To develop measures and technological solutions for rational use of natural resources in the area of mining site planned.

Specific Deliverables:

The work is expected to deliver the following results:

- the estimation of the possible impact on the environment during planned mine exploitation;
- the estimation of the possible impact on the biodiversity during planned mine exploitation;
- recommendations on mining site selection with due regard to environment preservation.

Expected Outputs, reports and related logistics:

- Detailed calendar plan for activities.
- Technical progress report with review of best existing technologies and methods of water ecosystem protection in mining.
- Final report with recommendations on controlling of threats to water ecosystem and biodiversity on the mining site.

Payment will be made in 3 installments based on the acceptance of the required deliverables by the Project Manager as specified below:

- 20% payment as a first installment upon the submission of detailed calendar plan - at the end of first 15 days.

- 40% remaining payment upon submission of the preliminary report - no later 15 September 2014.
- 40% remaining payment upon submission of the final report - no later 15 November 2014.

In the case that the conditions of the TOR are not met, the contract may be terminated and the consultancy fee reduced.

Budget: An indicative cost of USD 30,000 has been estimated for this service.

Приблизительный перевод на русский язык:
(английский текст имеет преимущественное значение)

«Выбор участка для новых разработок полезных ископаемых с целью предотвращения загрязнения поверхностных, подземных вод и почв».

Обоснование. Итогом 3.1. в рамках проектного документа предусмотрена разработка пилотного проекта, объектом которого должна быть демонстрация лучших практик в выборе участка для новых разработок ископаемых с целью предотвращения загрязнения почвы и подземных вод и воздействия на поверхностные водные системы. Исследования должны учитывать кумулятивное воздействие на биоразнообразие в результате добычи полезных ископаемых, которые были бы не распознаны обычным образом. В связи с возрастающим спросом на полезные ископаемые, происходит истощение их ресурсов в легкодоступных областях, изменяются технологии и экономические условия в горнодобывающей отрасли. Возможным вариантом в будущем может планироваться добыча полезных ископаемых в отдаленных богатых биоразнообразием экосистемах, где ранее не проводилась их разведка и разработка.

Цель работы. Выбор участка одного из месторождений в бассейне озера Байкал для планируемой разработки полезных ископаемых с учетом предотвращения загрязнения почвы и подземных вод и воздействия на поверхностные водные системы при осуществлении производственной деятельности.

В рамках выполнения данной работы организации, которая будет признана победителем конкурса, необходимо:

- выбрать участок для планируемой разработки полезных ископаемых, с выявлением опасных источников загрязнения и их негативного воздействия на окружающую среду;
- провести отбор проб и их анализ для определения фоновое содержания загрязняющих веществ в районе планируемой разработки месторождения;
- разработать мероприятия и технологические решения по рациональному использованию природных ресурсов в районе планируемого к разработке месторождения.

В результате выполнения работы предполагается получить:

- прогноз возможного воздействия на окружающую среду при планируемой эксплуатации месторождения;
- оценку возможного воздействия на биоразнообразие в результате планируемой добычи полезных ископаемых;
- рекомендации по выбору участка месторождения полезных ископаемых с учетом требований охраны окружающей среды.

Отчетность:

- детальный календарный план выполнения работ в течение первых 15 дней;
- промежуточный отчет о ходе выполняемых работ -15 сентября 2014 г.;

- окончательный отчет с рекомендациями по выбору участка месторождения полезных ископаемых с учетом требований охраны окружающей среды и сохранения биоразнообразия – 15 ноября 2014 г.
